Dr. Levy is interested in the constructions of ethnicity and citizenship, mainly in the field of education. Currently he concludes a three-year research project on alternative education in the Palestinian society in Israel, and is engaged in new research on citizenship enactments and political activism in the Arab and Jewish societies in Israel. Dr. Levy is engaged in studying democracy and citizenship in the contemporary Middle East.

Wednesday, April 29: 3:30-5:00pm
Kansas Union, Governors room (5th fl.)